COLLABORATORS

MIHAELA GLIGOR

Mihaela Gligor studied Philosophy at Babeş-Bolyai University Cluj-Napoca, where she also received her Ph.D. in Philosophy in 2006 with a thesis about Mircea Eliade and Romanian Right Extreme. She is the author of many reviews and studies about life and work of Mircea Eliade in International and Romanian journals. She is co-translator, in Romanian, of Mac Linscott Ricketts's monumental work, Mircea Eliade. The Romanian Roots. 1907-1945 (Bucharest, Criterion, 2004). She has coordinated, along with Mac Linscott Ricketts, the following volumes: Întâlniri cu / Encounters with Mircea Eliade (Cluj-Napoca, "Casa Cărţii de Ştiinţă", 2005), Întâlniri cu Mircea Eliade (Bucharest, Humanitas, 2007) and Professor Mircea Eliade: Reminiscences (Kolkata, Codex, 2008).

She is Scientific Researcher in the field of Philosophy at The Romanian Academy, "George Barițiu" Institute of History Cluj-Napoca, Department of Humanities. Between February – July 2009, she was a fellow at Department of Philosophy, Jadavpur University Kolkata, India, with an ICCR Postdoctoral Scholarship. She is Coordinator of "Indian Library" Collection at "Casa Cărții de Ştiință" Publishing House.

Author of volume Mircea Eliade. Anii tulburi. 1932-1938 (Mircea Eliade. His political involvement. 1932-1938), Bucharest, EuroPress Group, 2007 (nominated for Romanian Writers Union prizes).

In the present she is working at a new edited book, Patterns in Philosophy and Sociology of Religions, forthcoming at Rawat Publications, New Delhi, in collaboration with Professor Sherry Sabbarwal, from Panjab University, Chandigarh, India.

NOAM CHOMSKY

Noam Chomsky is an Institute Professor and Professor Emeritus of Linguistics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Chomsky is well known in the academic and scientific community as one of the fathers of modern linguistics. He is also a philosopher, cognitive scientist, political activist, author, and lecturer.

His approach to the study of language emphasizes "an innate set of linguistic principles shared by all humans" known as Universal Grammar. He also established the Chomsky hierarchy, a classification of formal languages in terms of their generative power. Chomsky has written and lectured widely on linguistics, philosophy, intellectual history, contemporary issues, international affairs and U.S. foreign policy.

Among his latest works: The Chomsky-Foucault Debate: On Human Nature (with Michel Foucault), New York: The New Press, distributed by W.W. Norton, 2006; Interventions, San Francisco: City Lights Books, 2007; The Essential Chomsky (edited by Anthony Arnove), New York: The New Press, 2008; Of Minds and Language: A Dialogue with Noam Chomsky in the Basque Country (edited by Massimo Piattelli-Palmarini, Juan Uriagereka, and Pello Salaburu), Oxford: Oxford University Press, 2009; Hopes and Prospects, Chicago: Haymarket Books, forthcoming November 2009.

AMITA CHATTERJEE

Amita Chatterjee is a Professor of Philosophy and the Coordinator of the Centre for Cognitive Science, Jadavpur University, India.

Books authored and edited by her include Understanding Vagueness, Pragati Publications, New Delhi, 1994; Bharatiya Dharmaniti (ed.), Allied Publishers Ltd., New Delhi, 1998; Perspectives on Consciousness (ed.), Munshiram Manoharlal Publisher Private Ltd., New Delhi, 2003; Physicalism and its Alternatives (Bengali), jointly ed. Ashima Prakasani, Kolkata, 2003; Some Philosophical Issues in Indian Logic, jointly ed. Allied Publishers Ltd, New Delhi, 2003; jointly edited two volumes on Philosophical Concepts Relevant to Sciences in Indian Traditions, PHISPC Project of Center for Studies in Civilizations, New Delhi, 2006; 2008. She is the consulting editor of Indian Philosophical Quarterly and the International Journal of Artificial Intelligence and Soft Computing.

She is currently engaged in research on inconsistency-tolerance logics, consciousness studies, human reasoning ability, perception and cognition.

STEVEN PINKER

Steven Pinker is an experimental psychologist, cognitive scientist, and author of popular science. Pinker is known for his wide-ranging advocacy of evolutionary psychology and the computational theory of mind.

At present, he is Harvard College Professor and Johnstone Family Professor in the Department of Psychology at Harvard University. Until 2003, he taught in the Department of Brain and Cognitive Sciences at MIT.

He conducts research on language and cognition, writes for publications such as the New York Times, Time, and The New Republic, and is the author of seven books, including The Language Instinct, Harper Perennial Modern Classics, 1994*; How the Mind Works*, W.W. Norton & Co, 1997; and most recently, The Stuff of Thought: Language as a Window into Human Nature, Viking, 2007. Pinker's books have won numerous awards and been New York Times best-sellers.

VIRGIL DRĂGHICI

Virgil Drăghici teaches Logic and Philosophy at Babeş-Bolyai University, Cluj-Napoca. His domains of competence: Mathematical logic, modal logic, german phenomenology.

He is the author of the following volumes: Logică matematică. O investigaţie asupra rezultatelor lui Hilbert, Gödel, Gentzen şi Kleene (Mathematical Logic. An investigation on Hilbert, Gödel, Gentzen, and Kleene's results), "Casa Cărţii de Ştiinţă", Cluj-Napoca, 2002; Logică şi adevăr. O expunere topo-logică a tematicii la E. Husserl şi M. Heidegger (Logic and Truth. A topo-logic exposure at E. Husserl and M. Heidegger), "Casa Cărţii de Ştiinţă", 2003; Logică. Tradiţională, clasică, modală (Logic. Traditional, classic, modal), EFES, Cluj-Napoca, 2007.

Associate Professor Drăghici is Editor-in-chief of Logos Architekton. Journal of Logic and Philosophy of Science, that appears biannualy at Cluj University Press, Cluj-Napoca.

ROBERT K. LOGAN

Robert K. Logan received his PhD from MIT (1965) and at the present he is Professor Emeritus at University of Toronto. In addition to math-based physics courses he taught an interdisciplinary course The Poetry of Physics which led to his collaboration with Marshall McLuhan and his research in media ecology and the evolution of language.

His best known works are The Alphabet Effect, Hampton Press, 2004, based on a paper co-authored with McLuhan; The Sixth Language: Learning a Living in the Internet Age, Blackburn Press, 2004, and The Extended Mind: The Emergence of Language, the Human Mind and Culture, University of Toronto Press, 2007. His new book, Understanding New Media: Extending Marshall McLuhan, is forthcoming at Hampton Press, 2009.

SMITA SIRKER

Smita Sirker is a Lecturer of Philosophy at Jadavpur University from where she had completed her graduation, masters and Ph.D on Reason, Logic and Culture: A Study on Human Reasoning Abilities in 2005.

She is also associated as a researcher with the Centre for Cognitive Science, Jadavpur University. Her areas of interest are moral philosophy, philosophy of mind and cognitive science. She has published articles in anthologies and journals, both national and international.

Habibollah GHASSEMZADEH

Dr. Habibollah Ghassemzadeh is a senior clinical psychologist and professor of Tehran University of Medical Sciences since 1976. Behavior therapy and cognitive behavior therapy (CBT) have been introduced by him in Iran. He has also been known as a cognitive scientist interested in the area of pragmatic aspects of language focusing on the relation of thought and language, metaphor and metaphoric processing, and narrative analysis. He has introduced a model for the analysis of metaphors in Persian poetics.

Dr. Ghassemzadeh has written and/or edited 6 books and has translated 15 books into Persian. Since 2002, he has been a visiting scholar at several American universities such as Vanderbilt University and UCLA, 2002; Washington University, 2004; and University of Oregon, 2005 and 2007.

He is one of the founding members of Iranian Psychological Association and the chief editor of a journal on Cognition, Brain and Behavior.

Sharmistha DHAR

Sharmistha Dhar is pursuing her M.Phil Programme in Cognitive Science (Final Semester) administered by the Department of Philosophy, Jadavpur University, Kolkata, India. She is preparing her Dissertation focusing on the problem of folk intuitions concerning Moral Responsibility and the putative influence of emotion on judgments of moral responsibility.

Sanjukta BASU

Sanjukta Basu is Reader in Philosophy and Head of the Department of Philosophy, Rabindra Bharati University, Kolkata, India. Her specialization includes logic of vagueness, particularly fuzzy logic, different systems of para-consistent logic etc. Besides this, she takes interest in foundational issues in logic, algebraic logic, logic of ordinary language and philosophy of language in general. She has to her credit publications in both national and international journals on topics in the above mentioned areas. She is the Executive Editor of the Rabindra Bharati Journal of Philosophy since 2005.

Keith HITCHINS

Keith Hitchins is Professor of History at the University of Illinois and specializes in Southeastern Europe, Romania, Transylvania, the Kurds, Central Asia, and nationalism. Among his more recent books are Rumania, 1866-1947, in the Oxford History of Modern Europe series (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1994), The Romanians, 1774-1866 (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1996), A Nation Discovered: Romanian Intellectuals in Transylvania and the Idea of Nation, 1700-1848 (Bucharest: Encyclopaedic Publishing House, 1999), and A Nation Affirmed: The Romanian National Movement in Transylvania, 1860-1914 (Bucharest: Encyclopaedic Publishing House, 1999). He has also written on Kurdish and Tajik literature and the Jadid movement in Central Asia and is the editor of the Journal of Kurdish Studies. He is currently at work on a History of Southeastern Europe, 1352-1807, for the Oxford History of Early Modern Europe, and A Concise History of Romania for Cambridge University Press. He is an honorary member of the Romanian Academy.

Call for papers

The International Journal on Humanistic Ideology invites researchers and academics to contribute to the forth issue on the topics: REASON AND RELIGIOUS IDENTITY.

Contributions are welcomed in the form of studies, articles or book reviews. The material will be accompanied by an Abstract (10 lines) - except for book reviews - a list of up to ten Keywords, and by the author's CV, and a list of main publications (1/2 page).

Materials, as well as general inquiries, can be sent via e-mail at mihaelagligor@gmail.com or humanistic.ideology@gmail.com.

The language in which materials will be published is English.

The deadline for the submission of the papers is 15 November 2009. The International Journal on Humanistic Ideology is published at Cluj University Press, Cluj-Napoca, Romania, biannually.